The University of Alabama Medical Alumni Association has joined local artist and medical graduate Don Stewart to announce the release of a brand new composite drawing,

Life Savers: The New University Hospital.

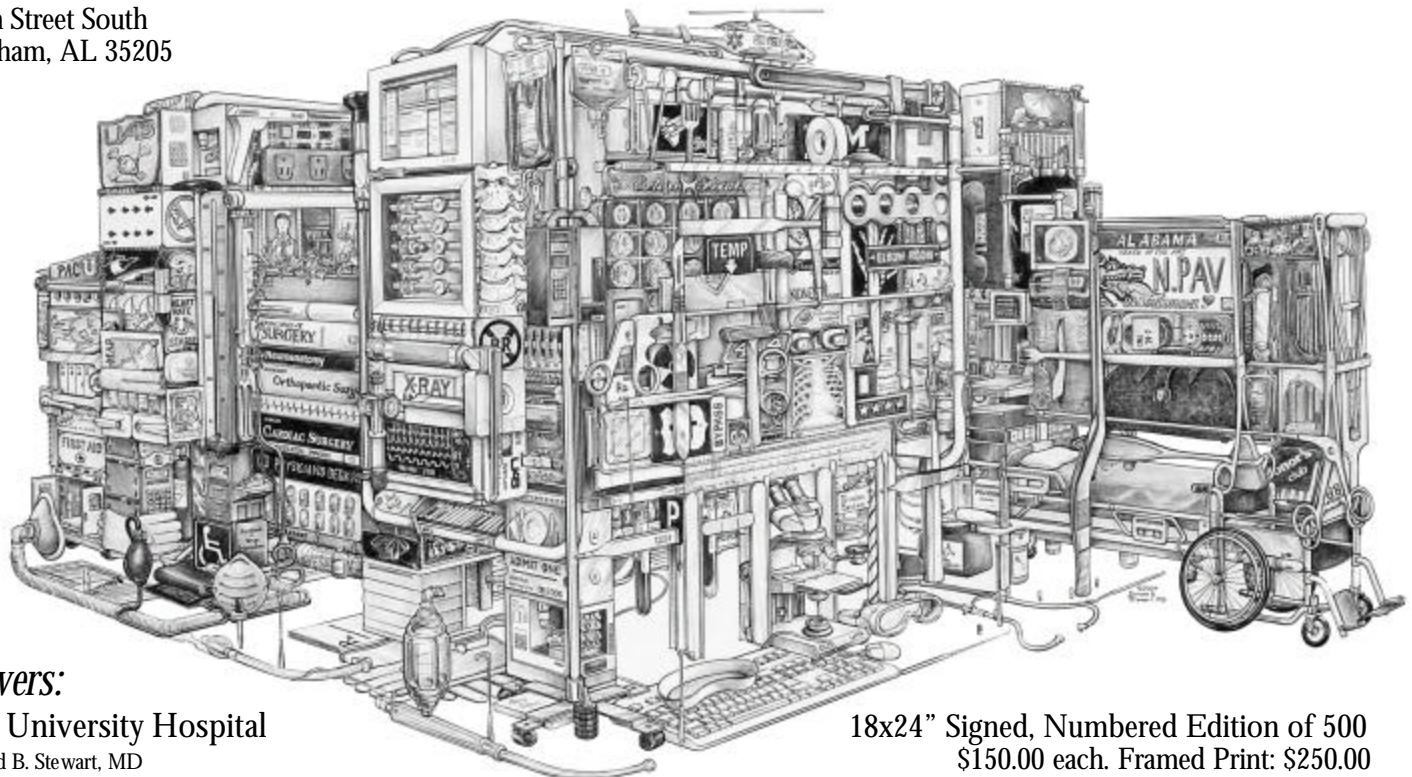

Stewart's artwork is a whimsical rendering of the new emergency, trauma, cardiac and surgical hospital, composed of over 170 surgical instruments, medical items and tongue-in-cheek (glossobuccal?) visual puns. Look closely for the Vital Signs, SOAP notes, Bypass, Frozen Section, Ace Inhibitors, Pet's Can (Cat's Can?) and Code Blue.

This unique tribute to Birmingham's enduring medical tradition is part of a special fundraising effort for the MAA. Sales of the drawing will help support medical student scholarships, and provide service and training opportunities in developing countries and underserved areas throughout the world.

Signed, limited edition prints of Life Savers will be available through the MAA (205) 934-4463, the DS Art Studio Gallery in Homewood (800) 372-7864, and online at www.alabamamedicalalumni.org.
